Supposed CIA Agents Identified

Covert Action Information Bulletin, a periodical which says it is out to destroy the CIA, yesterday published the names of 14 men and a woman it identified as CIA agents under cover in various U.S. embassies and consulates around the world.

It also gave the name of a 15th said to have been the chief of station in Jiddah, Saudi Arabia who "crossed the street" and was said to be working now as adviser to the Saudi foreign intelligence.

Despite its policy of "naming names," Covert Action said it had declined to reveal the names of any American intelligence agents at the captured U.S. Embassy in Iran.
